Chained.

BY THE BARD OF THE MOUNTAIN.

Fast chained by bleak adversity,
My weary spirit helpless lies,
And waits till by stern fate's decree
It to its wonted sphere shall rise.

My saddened heart the torrent drinks
That flows through cold misfortune's vale,
Where loathsome verdure lines its brink,
Unwilling I its stench inhale.

Could I the potent ore possess
That glitters in Australian mines,
How soon would fawning millions press
To worship at my golden shrine?

But fashion's pampered nurslings sneer
At common sense in homespun gray,
Whilst I the hot, unbidden tear
In silent anguish brush away.

Oh, grant me but the freedman's dole,
Whose chains my trembling hand did smite,
Nor longer leave my panting soul
To battle with the mists of night.

Whilst he in learning's gilded halls,
The power that moves the world invokes,
My drooping head despondent falls
Beneath the fell oppressor's stroke.

Let hope's resplendent light illume
My path with one faint flickering ray,
To cheer the soul-destroying gloom
That hovers o'er the murky way.

The Story-Teller.

MY WIDOW.

BY ROCHESTER.

JONES advised me not to marry her—he said she was too young and pretty.

Farnum advised me to be an old bachelor—told me a man past forty simply made a fool of himself by matrimony.

Tewksbury—a man who is notorious for never minding his own business—told me she had made a love affair with Harry Birmingham before he went South.

Allen shook his head, and said Clara Myers might be very pretty, but he liked somebody maturer and settled. (N. B.—He married his housekeeper next week and she is mature enough for Methusaleh himself.)

Everybody thought I was trying a dangerous experiment, but I didn't pretend to suit everybody—so I simply suited myself. I went quietly to church with Clara Myers, and married her one glorious January morning, when the old St. Paul's was fringed with glittering icicles and the brisk wind was freighted with the particles of flying snow, like a battalion of diamonds on a double quick.

She was nineteen and I was nine and thirty. She was as beautiful as a rose bud; I was a rough old codger, sound enough at heart, but like a winter apple, unpromising on the exterior.

In short, we were as unlike as May and November, and the good-natured world shook its head, and said, "no good could come of such an unequal match." But she said she loved me, and I believed her. Nobody could look into Clara's blue eyes and not believe her, you see.

The next day I made a will and bequeathed all my property unconditionally to my wife.

"Are you sure you are doing a wise thing, Mr. Folliott?" said Mr. Mardyn, the lawyer, pushing his blue spectacles upon his forehead, until he looked like an old bald gnome, with a double pair of eyes. "You see she is very much younger than yourself, and—"

"Please to be so kind as to mind your own business," said I brusquely. "Don't be offended, Mardyn, but really, people seem to think I am not able to attend to my own affairs."

"Just as you please," said Mardyn, in a rage. "I am a mere tool in your hands."

"That's it exactly," said I. So I signed the will and went home to Clara.

"Oh, Paul, you must not die!" said Clara, with a scared look, when I told her what I had done. "Nobody ever loved me as truly and generously as you have done, and I don't know what I should do if you were taken away."

"There was a young Birmingham, if all reports are true—" I mischievously began, but the curl on Clara's lip stopped me.

"A mere butterfly," she said haughtily, "without either brains or principle, Paul. Paul I have found a shelter in your true, loving heart, and I mean to nestle there always."

And then she cried—this foolish, soft-hearted little wife of mine.

Jones and Tewksbury might have called this policy. Farnum would have said it was acting. But it was very pleasant, and I felt more than ever like a man who has found some precious jewel, and wears it like an amulet on his breast.

So the things went on, until the firm of which I was managing partner needed to send some one to Calcutta to see after a turbaned scoundrel of an agent, who had absconded with more money than we could well afford to lose. Morrison was old and feeble—Hewett's wife lay very ill, so I was the one to go. I kissed Clara good-bye as cheerfully as I could, fully expecting to be back in three months or so.

I had to follow the agent up into the mountains of India—I fell ill of one of those burning climate fevers in the bungalow of an old native priest, and the months flew by, until it was more than a year before I found myself on the deck of the "Blue-eyed Mary," steaming into the New York harbor.

And all the time Clara had not heard a word from me.

I had written to her to prepare her for what seemed almost like my rising from the dead, but I had afterward found my letters in the pocket of the neglectful native servant who had undertaken to deliver the mail to the Calcutta office.

"But it don't matter so much now," I thought, "she will be the more delighted, poor little girl!"

And then a cold chill seemed to creep through all my veins, like November's wind suddenly breathing across a bed of flowers.

Clara had heard nothing of me for nearly fifteen months—what might have happened in that time? All that Tewksbury, and Jones and Allen, and all other prophetic ravens of my acquaintance had said recurred to my mind like a burden of an uneasy dream! I had been counting the hours and the very minutes until we should touch port—but now that my feet rang once more upon the pavement of my native city, I actually dared not go home.

I turned into a down-town restaurant, where I had been wont to go in the days of my bachelorhood, and slunk into that dark corner—the twilight was just falling, and I was sheltered by the partition.

Hush! that was Tewksbury's voice, harsh and jarring as of old.

"Just what might have been expected," said Tewksbury. "Pretty and young widows don't go begging in this market."

"Folliott might have known it," growled old Farnum. "Poor Folliott! there were some good points about him, too; sad thing that, very sad thing!"

"We must all die," said Tewksbury gravely.

"Yes, but a fellow would naturally prefer dying in his bed to being carried off by an East Indian fever and buried in the jungles."

I shuddered. Had I come home to my own funeral as it were.

"And she is going to marry young Birmingham after all?" added Farnum.

The paper dropped from my hand.

"I could have told Folliott so, when I found out what a confounded idiotic will he had made," said Tewksbury. "So gold has fallen again. Just my luck; I sold out to-day."

I stayed to hear no more, but staggered out in the darkness with one idea whirling through my dizzy brain—my Clara was mine no longer.

It was questionable what Tewksbury had said; I might have anticipated some such end. She was too young, too lovely for such a rough fellow as I was. My widow! what a curious sensation the words gave as I mentally pronounced them.

Under my own windows, with the ruby red light shining through the wine-colored damask curtains, I stood there feeling as Rip Van Winkle might have felt in the play—like a dead man walking on the earth once more. Voices and lights were within. I opened the door softly and crept into the hall.

The drawing room door was ajar. Clara herself stood before the fire with a frill of white crape on her auburn gold tresses—the awful sign of her widowhood. Directly opposite stood Harry Birmingham, looking diabolically young and handsome in the soft light.

"Clara, Clara," he cried, "you surely are not in earnest. You will reconsider?"

"My answer is final," she replied. "The time might have been when I fancied I had a childish liking for you, Harry Birmingham. But that time has long since passed away. I gave my heart to the best and noblest heart that ever breathed—Paul Folliott—and in his grave it is forever buried. I loved him once; I shall love him on into eternity! I never was half worthy of him, but—"

And Clara's voice was choked with sobs.

My love, my darling—my own precious wife.

How I ever got into the room—how I managed to make Clara comprehend that I was my own living self, and not a ghost arisen from the shadow of the sepulchre, I cannot tell to this day—neither can she—but I know that young Birmingham somehow disappeared, and I was standing with Clara clasped to my breast, the happiest man that ever breathed God's blessed air.

For Jones, Tewksbury, Farnum & Co., were all wrong—and to use the words of the orthodox fairy stories, slightly paraphrased, I and my widow "lived happy ever afterwards.

Robbery of a Railway Train.

CHICAGO, July 22.—A special dispatch from Des Moines gives the following account of the attack on a train of the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific Railroad last night. The train left Council Bluffs at five o'clock, with four coaches and two sleepers in the rear, the sleepers being filled with a company of aristocratic Chinese on their way to New England Colleges.

There were also two baggage express cars, in which was the through California mail and express matter, consisting of nearly $2000 in the express safe, and three tons of bullion.

When about sixty-five miles west of Des Moines, about 8.30 P. M., at a sharp curve on the road, and in an isolated spot, with no house for several miles in any direction, the train moving about twenty-five miles an hour, the engineer, John Rafferty, suddenly saw one rail moved from its place about sixty feet ahead of the engine. He instantly reversed the engine and applied the air-brake. While in the act bullets came pelting into the engine like hail. The engine ran into the bank, turned over, throwing out engineer John Rafferty and the fireman, the former falling on the latter dead.

It is supposed Rafferty was killed by the concussion, as no bullet wounds were found on his body. The fireman escaped unhurt. The train being very heavy, ran about a hundred feet and stopped; the baggage cars doubled and were badly smashed. As soon as the train stopped, several athletic men, masked in full Kuklux style, appeared at the express car, in which were conductor Wm. Smith, superintendent Royce, express messenger John Burgess and three other persons, and commenced firing rapidly into the car, yelling, "Get out of there; d—— ye, get out of there!" Two bullets passed through the clothes of the conductor, one grazed the skull of a baggage-man, one the side of the head of an express messenger. The inmates jumped out to the rear under cover of half a dozen navy revolvers.

Two of the robbers marched up and down the train, threatening to shoot any person who showed his head, saying, "Get down out of sight, d—n you, or we will shoot you!" The robbers then took about $2000 from the express safe and cut open the mail sacks, "but took no letters," mounted horses and rode off across the prairies in a southerly direction, the whole being done in less than ten minutes.

They fortunately did not cut the telegraph wires, and Superintendent Royce at once hastened to the nearest station, and telegraphed in all directions. Engines and a posse of men were sent out from Council Bluffs, on the Burlington and other roads, to intercept the robbers.

Their dress and voices indicated they were regular bushwackers. They evidently intended to get the usual valuable express matter sent by this route on Monday, but which went through on an extra train on Sunday night. The robbers during the day stole a spike bar and hammer from a hand-car house at the station.

They drew two spikes from one end of a rail, secreted themselves several rods away, and as the engine approached pulled the rail out of place. The promptness of the engineer in reversing the engine and the use of the air-brake saved the passengers from harm, not one being injured. The track was at once laid around the wrecked cars, and the train resumed its trip, arriving here at 7.30 this morning, bringing the dead body of the engineer, who resided here, and who leaves a wife and three children.

What Shall We Eat?

This is an important question in these times of high prices. Dr. Hall, in a late number of his Journal of Health—a good authority by the way—says the cheapest articles of food at present prices are bread (especially corn meal), butter, molasses, beans and rice. He shows that twenty-five cents worth of flour, at eight cents per pound, contains as much nourishment as $2.25 worth of roast beef at twenty-five cents per pound; and that a pint of white beans, costing seven cents, has the same amount of nutriment as three and a half pounds of beef. Furthermore, a pound of Indian meal will go as far as a pound of fine flour, costing nearly twice as much.

Here are some of the common articles of food, showing the amount of nutriment that is contained therein, and the time required for digestion:

	Time of digestion.		Amount of nutriment.
	Hours.	Min.	Per cent.
Apples, raw	1	50	10
Beans, boiled	2	30	37
Beef, roasted	3	30	26
Bread, baked	3	30	60
Butter	3	30	96
Cabbage, boiled	4	30	7
Cucumber, raw	—	—	2
Fish, boiled	2	00	20
Milk, fresh	2	15	7
Mutton, roasted	3	15	30
Pork, roasted	5	15	24
Poultry, roasted	2	45	27
Potatoes, boiled	2	30	13
Rice, boiled	1	00	38
Sugar	3	30	96
Turnips, boiled	2	30	4
Veal, roasted	4	00	25
Venison, boiled	1	00	22

According to the above table, cucumbers are of very little value, and apples, cabbages, turnips, and even potatoes are expensive eating. Some vegetables and fruits should, however, enter into family consumption, even if only purchased for sanitary reasons. Among those which contain the most saccharine matter, sweet potatoes, parsnips, beets and carrots are the most nourishing. Roast pork requires too lengthy a drain upon the forces of the stomach to be a very healthy article of diet.

SHOT AS A MEDICINE.—Dr. Maydieu of France, has revived the old practice of giving shot for billious colic. His method is, to take No. 5 shot, after carefully washing them with sweet oil, and give a desert spoonful every half hour. He claims that in five or six hours the vomiting ceases. The Editor of the "Pacific Medical and Surgical Journal" relate the following anecdote, illustrative of this treatment:—A clergyman was taken very sick and stopped at the house of a good old lady, who was familiar with the treatment, who stated that she had no shot, but a bullet which would answer the purpose. She gave it to the divine, who, after being assured of its great efficacy, swallowed it, and to his joy and surprise found that in a very short time he was entirely relieved of the colic. Before leaving, he expressed some doubt to the old lady about the piece of lead so heavy finding its way through the bowels. "Oh, my," she replied, "you need have no anxiety about that, as it has been through me ten or twelve times."

It has been discovered that Udderzook, arrested for the murder of an unknown man near Jennersville, has been engaged in robberies in Baltimore.

Letter from St. Louis.

ST. LOUIS, GRATIOT CO., MICH.

DEAR JOURNAL: To fulfil a promise made to some friends, I will try to give your readers an account of our trip from Huntingdon to this place. Having for several years past heard of the Magnetic Springs, I at last decided to follow the tide of cripples, and see what could be done for me. I left at 7.43 on the morning of July 15th, and after a very pleasant trip by way of Pittsburg, Cleveland, Detroit and Saginaw, I arrived at noon on the 17th. Came from Cleveland to Detroit by Lake Steamer, and enjoyed a good night's rest that was an impossibility by rail. En route I noticed that our State is more favored with good crops than either Ohio or Michigan. The corn especially is poor here, and wheat and oats are much shorter in stock than in our State. Much of the wheat is still standing, and the oats are not colored in the least. The Spring was backward and wet, so that all the Spring grains are very poor.

St. Louis is now a thriving town, eight miles from the county seat, Ithica. It has near 1000 inhabitants, and is five years of age; it has direct connection with Saginaw by rail. The road being finished last fall; has four hotels and quite a number of private boarding houses. The discovery of the magnetic well was the first cause of its being built. In 1869 Messrs. Holcomb & Evans were sinking a well for salt; when it was sunk 255 feet they were stopped by a great flow of water, and as it was a great want in this country, (there being few wells) it occasioned great excitement; people flocked in numbers to see it. Among others there was then in town a sample agent from Detroit who was furnishing Lumbermen's supplies to the only store in the place. The only peculiarity of the water noticed at first was its coldness, being 50° Fahrenheit. Wagers were soon made to see who could hold their hands under this stream for the longest time. This agent had one hand completely paralyzed from Rheumatism, and he laid a wager that he could hold it in the stream ten minutes, which was soon taken. He held it in much longer, and strange to him he noticed a return of sensibility and motion. Continuing the cold douche for some time, his hand was perfectly cured. This marvel spread like wild fire, and St. Louis soon had the reputation of being a cure-all. It was found, too, that iron left in the water, soon became possessed of magnetic properties, and glassware was colored a light lye color if allowed to stand in the stream, which was a permanent dye. Bath houses were soon erected and invalids flocked in. The first cures were really marvelous, and I could give you columns of cases that have been carried here perfectly helpless, and have gone away, many cured and the rest much benefitted. The cases best suited to the waters are rheumatism in all of its forms and stages. Neuralgic affections, diseases of the kidneys, and certain forms of Dyspepsia. There are now here nearly four hundred invalids who use the waters daily, and on Sundays excursionists come from Saginaw, Bay City and surrounding towns, making frequently from three to six hundred more. These come for pleasure and the use of the waters.

There is a large lumber and salt interest being developed here now. Rough boards, shingles, shuck and cooper's materials. There is also large quantities of brick made near this place. The arch brick are perfectly white, and the casings red; they are smooth and very fine in grain; in their manufacture little or no sand is used.

The people have all of the vim of pioneers, and about three out of every five answer to the names of Capt. Jack, Shack-Nasty Jim, Bogus Charley, &c. It must be truly humiliating to the original owners of these euphonius titles, and if it spreads they may be compelled to prove their identity.

The weather is quite cool and pleasant, the thermometer seldom raising higher than 75° and often standing at 60° for 12 hours together. The nights are always cool, so that we notice quite a change from our accustomed hot days and nights at home.

The associations here are pleasant; not so much style as at Cape May, Long Branch or Saratoga, but the natural facilities are much superior. Nearly all of the western and Middle States have representatives here, who stay on an average of six weeks, but some stay for months together, thinking that away from here they could not live. One of the drawbacks to its being a fashionable resort is a malarious atmosphere in the after summer months, so that frequently persons who are cured or temporarily relieved of their first trouble, take a turn with chills and fever. This is obviated, however, by coming early in the season, or the continued use of quinine.

Having now probably imposed too much on your columns, I will close.

O.

Supreme Judge.

The press of the State speak very highly of several gentlemen as candidates for Supreme Judge, but of none more highly than the Hon. William M. Hall, President Judge of the 16th district. Knowing Judge Hall well, we believe him to be the proper man to occupy this exalted position. He combines qualities as a judicial officer and a man, eminently fitting him to head the ticket this fall, when the merits of the candidate for the place, and the highest character for integrity, must unite to win success. A fine scholar and thorough lawyer, industrious and fond of the work of his profession, with a mind disciplined by system, enabling him to perform a great deal of work in a short time; in the prime of life with good health, and even temper, he combines extensive learning, solid judgment, and unshaken integrity, and united with no clique, the favorite of no ring, is a man that would command the respect of all. If we know Judge Hall, we are confident he will do nothing to in any way further his nomination, and knowing this we do not expect to see him nominated. The political axiom of the office seeking the man, is a worn-out sentiment of purer days and less selfish men than those in which we live and are surrounded. But we will congratulate the convention if the candidate for Supreme Judge has all the great qualifications for the place which we believe are combined in the President Judge of the 16th Judicial district.—State Journal.

A. TYHURST,
Chairman Republican County Committee.
Huntingdon, July 22, 1873.

☞ The Poor House funds will, no doubt, be on hand to buy Delegates. Who bids?

☞ Vote for no man for Delegate unless you know him to be right, and that he has back bone.

☞ The man who will come to the Convention and sell his vote deserves the contempt of every living thing.

☞ "Honesty is the best policy," but the Leaguers controvert this. They think that knavery counts faster.

☞ "The Honest People vs. the vile League," is the cry of the Republican party of Huntingdon county.

☞ Leaguer and liar are synonymous. To be able to lie like a Leaguer, means to be able to lie like Tom Pepper.

☞ Work, work, every minute from now until the close of the primary election, to crush the League and save taxes.

☞ Douglass and Woods having promised all the candidates, are now weeping because there are no more to promise!

☞ The Leaguer takes the Globe and curses Hon. John Scott. There is no difficulty in finding them by these true tests.

☞ The Leaguer just means the opposite of what he promises. He must lie or he would be expelled from the happy family.

☞ When potatoes are sixty cents a bushel favorites can get seventy-five cents at the Poor House. How is this, honest John?

☞ No one has a right to vote for delegates, or hold a position on the primary election board, who voted for the Indepondent ticket last fall.

☞ Turn out! Turn out to the delegate elections. Do not hold back and leave those who are only interested in gobbling up your taxes, make the delegates.

☞ Allow no man to vote at our Delegate election who is not a Republican and who will not swear to support the ticket of the 12th of August Convention.

☞ "Can't you set up men that they don't know?" queries Woods of his confidents. Yes, they want loose heifers that they can plow with. Don't accommodate them.

☞ Half a score of men who have been, successively, prominent in the League, have gone to the wall. Somebody has made money out of them. Who? Guss, next, answer.

☞ Any man who will barter away privileges given him by his constituents, as a Delegate, should be held up to public contempt for all time to come, and we feel like doing it.

☞ The Leaguers' paper, the Globe, does not come up to the rescue of its friends nimbly. It rather hobbles up sidewise. If the League is a good thing why don't you stand up to it?

☞ Wherever the Leagers have trotted out a candidate simply to make Delegates be sure to spoil the little game, or instruct for him and see that they are true Republicans in every other respect.

☞ How strange it is, of the many prominent men who have tied themselves up to the League, that so few have steered clear of insolvency. Woods, however, appears to be an exception!

☞ The man who will sell his vote ought to have a label stuck upon his back, bearing this inscription, and marched through town, "THIS MAN WAS BOUGHT WITH POOR HOUSE FUNDS!"

☞ We have heard of Delegates being bought. The man who would sell his vote for money, would steal the effects of those who sent him. He is a disgrace to the party and the meanest of the mean.

☞ The object in making a man take an oath, generally, is to get him to tell the truth, but the Leaguers take an oath to lie. They swear to conceal the truth by lying. What a reputable association!

☞ Almost all the evils of our politics grow out of good men remaining away from our Primary Elections. This being the case don't fail to attend on next Saturday, and spot effectually every Leaguer.

☞ The Leaguers "went for" Barker last year. Who is on the programme this year? There isn't much in it—only the county funds! They are determined to have those. Couldn't they splurge on the county funds? Whew!

☞ It is said there is more corruption in Huntingdon county politics than in any other county in the State. We are not prepared to believe it, and yet the demoralization brought about by the League has been fearful, crush it out and remove a stain.

How Woods Packed the Jury!

A Leaf from the Testimony Taken to Sustain the Motion to Quash the Jury Panel.

The Motion Sustained by Judge Taylor.

It gives us pleasure to be able to lay before our readers the greater portion of the testimony of Messrs. Woods and Shontz, taken before His Honor, Judge Taylor, to sustain the motion to set aside the jury panel for the year 1870. Here it is in all its naked ugliness:

W. H. Woods, sworn.

Question. State what you know about the Jury Panel—how formed, drawn, &c., for this term of Court?

Answer. Mr. Shontz, one of the Jury Commissioners, and I met on Wednesday, I think about 11 o'clock. He said he did not know what his duties were. I suppose there were about a half-dozen persons present. I invited him and Harris Richardson to my house for dinner. In the room he said he had lists from nearly all parts of the county. He wanted me to give him some names from Dublin township. I did so; gave him some twenty or thirty names.

Q. You say you gave him some twenty or thirty names from Dublin township? Did you give him any other names?

A. I think I gave him a few from Huntingdon borough.

Q. Then you gave some twenty or thirty names from Dublin township and a few from Huntingdon borough; any others?

A. I think I gave a few names from Mount Union borough.

Q. Did you furnish any other names than those you have mentioned?

A. No, sir. NONE WHATEVER.

Q. Did you recommend him to erase any names from his lists?

A. No, sir. I MADE NO SUCH RECOMMENDATION!

Q. Did you make any suggestions to him in regard to names being added or erased from his lists?

A. None; excepting what I have already stated.

Q. You are interested in the trial of causes, as an attorney, at this term, are you not?

A. I am an attorney interested in the trial of causes at this term, and expect to continue to practice at this Court.

Geo. W. Shontz, (Jury Commissioner,) sworn.

Question. State what you know as to the making up and drawing of the Jury for this Court?

[Mr. Woods objected to the witness answering. Said he had no right to answer such questions. After a parley between the counsel the subject was referred to His Honor, Judge Taylor, who said: "I think, for his own honor, he should tell all he knows about it."] Witness then proceeded:

Answer. I came to town on Wednesday, about 11 o'clock; was in Mr. Woods' office. He invited Harris Richardson and myself to dine with him. While sitting in the room we got to talking about the Jury. He furnished me some thirty or forty names from Dublin township, Huntingdon and Mt. Union boroughs.

Q. Who gave you Robert Laird's name of Porter township?

A. Mr. Woods.

Q. Who gave you Mr. Graffius' name?

A. Mr. Woods.

Q. Did you examine the list of jurors with Mr. Woods?

A. Yes. WE EXAMINED THEM.

Q. Did he suggest any names to be erased from your list?

A. Yes; at his suggestion we erased some names!

Q. Did he suggest any other names to be added in place of those erased?

A. Yes. We put other names in their places!

Q. Did he, after having names added and others erased, examine the list?

A. HE EXAMINED IT AFTERWARD!

Q. What was then done?

A. He said it would now do. I could go. We went down to his office. Mr. Speer was there. We talked some about the Jury and I went to the Prothonotary's office to aid in drawing the Jury.

We submit this testimony to our readers without further comment. It speaks for itself. Honest men of Huntingdon county, what do you think of it? This is one of the many ways in which the League has worked.

☞ Mr. Woods thinks that the right kind of men to run for delegates is men who will nominate anything he will ask them to do, i. e. who will put the administration of county affairs entirely in his hands. He no doubt thinks he could run the Commissioners' office just as well, at least, as he is running the Poor House! His administration has only increased four hundred per cent. It would only increase the county taxes to about $160,000 per year! This is a mere trifle! The tax-payers ought to be generous enough to yield at once. Mr. Woods means well—for himself. He isn't a bit selfish, not he!

☞ The Chairman of the County Committee corrects the call for the Republican County Convention, by striking out the words "and all those portions of Walker and Porter townships formerly attached to the East Ward," for the reason that whilst they vote in the borough at all general elections, they are not entitled and have no right to vote at borough or primary elections in the borough. We notice that the Chairman of the Democratic County Committee falls into the same error.

☞ Mr. Douglass, the straight-out Liberal Republican Democrat, is still looking for more candidates. What an interest he is beginning to take in the Republican party! What a pity it is that he is not entitled to a vote at our Delegate Election, unless he will solemnly swear that he will vote the ticket nominated by the Republican County Convention.

☞ They have to take a Democratic Doctor at the Poor House, or long John shakes them out of their boots. Democratic medicine is popular down there, but John ought not to commence with old women. Democratic store goods are also very necessary to keep up the sanitary condition of the paupers.

WHAT IT COSTS TO MAINTAIN THE POOR HOUSE UNDER LEAGUE RULE.

"A Porter township Tax-payer," in another column, gives some figures which his fellow tax-payers would do well to consider before they go to the delegate elections this week, and when they go make up their minds that the Poor House needs a change of administration.

We reproduce some figures in this connection that were furnished by a correspondent last winter, which show the amount we pay in this county in excess of the cost of maintaining paupers in other counties.

According to our recent correspondent's figures the average monthly number of paupers in Huntingdon county, during 1872, was 46, cost about $256 each, $11,802.60.

The table given by our former correspondent of cost in other counties was as follows:

Average no. of paupers.	Counties.	Whole cost.
151	Blair	$8,245.60
67	Beaver	7,505.72
126	Fayette	8,317.42
92	Perry	4,924.97
93	Greene	6,133.46
136	Bedford	6,691.56
50	Mifflin	4,157.51

Why should 151 paupers in Blair county cost $8,245.75, and less than half the number in Huntingdon cost $11,802.60? This is a question that may be repeated as to all the other counties named, and it is one the tax-payers of this county are interested in. If you want to get out the facts, go to the delegate elections, and send men to the County Convention who are independent enough to think and act without waiting for the decree of the League.

☞ "And then the JOURNAL flies to the defense of Wharton, Scott & Co., the nasty thing! and tells a whole lot of yarns about Woods, the immaculate, who never, never, NEVER utters a word in his own defense; no, not even a word!" "If only some one would hold the animal, that 'importation,' just brought here to stir up strife and wrest the county affairs out of our hands! Oh, the beast!" Our devil thinks he overheard Woods repeat something like the above to another Leaguer who had just come in to receive his instructions. It sounds very much like a squib in the last Globe.

☞ "The men who joined hands with the Democrats in '69 (?) to defeat the ticket," set up by the League, are the objects of Mr. Woods' wrath. He hates them! He has been trying to chaw them up piece-meal ever since, but they "won't down." He struck out vigorously at Clarkson and Lane two years ago, and at the whole county ticket last fall, but his antics only reminded the party of a jumping-jack. Men who fly the track in this way ought not to have any part or lot with the Republican party. Poor Woods has wriggled himself out! Good-bye, William!

☞ We intended presenting our readers, this week, with a handsome cartoon, by Nast, representing a large portrait of a middle-aged gentleman, pursuing the even tenor of his way, unmolested, with an obtrusive blue-bottle fly dashing around at a respectable distance trying to make things lively with an occasional exclamation: "Ain't I kicking up a row!" but the artist failed to come to time.

☞ We are informed that the amount paid by the County Treasurer thus far, in this year, for the Poor House, exceeds $7,000. At that rate it is easy to see that adding the farm products this year's expenses will run over $14,000. Tax-payers, look at the figures given this week, on this subject, and take care of your own interests.

☞ The Leaguers have sworn to support none for office save those who have been sworn in, and yet they have found fools enough, who have not been sworn in, to elect them to fat positions. The man who could take an oath to thus deceive and defraud his neighbors would be a bandit if he were in Italy or Mexico.

☞ The "League is an old woman's cry," says Woods. Indeed! Let every old and young woman in the county cry out against it. Generally whatever women cry out against are insufferable evils. Ladies, urge your husbands, sons and fathers to help crush the infamous organization!

☞ Is every man, who feels that the League ought to be crushed out, doing his duty to carry the delegate elections? If not, he is accountable. No one should stand idle, and especially those who are receiving, or looking forward to, partisan favors.

☞ If the Delegate Election should go wrong, you would growl like a bear with a sore head, and yet you are doing nothing to defeat those who have been running up your taxes, year after year, to an enormous figure. Go to the election and take all your friends!

☞ Woods and Guss have been loading up the Globe this week. It is to be loaded down to the muzzle, and when it goes off look out for the recoil—there it is where the damage will be done. There will be, at least, a couple of dead Wood-cocks in the marsh!

☞ "Why can't you carry the delegates over them?" queried Woods. "Well," said his confident, "the people are aroused on this Poor House question. They are determined to straighten it out." That's so!

☞ Mr. Woods' funny articles in the last Globe are as full of wit as a grave stone. After next Tuesday's Convention we fear these brilliant meteoric displays will no longer be visible. He will seek Shade in the "land of promise."

☞ In no event permit any man, who voted for Speer and the Independent ticket, last fall, to hold a place on your primary election board. If boards, containing such parties, are organized, repudiate them. Organize a Republican board.

☞ "Oh, I am no Leaguer!" exclaims an ardent partisan of Woods, Shade & Co. Weil, then, what are you? If you are no Leaguer you must be very stupid to support none but those who are.

READ! READ! READ!

Startling Facts for Tax-Payers!

The Work of the Leaguers!

MR. EDITOR:—You have alluded to the Poor House accounts, and I have been led to examine them, and I think I ought to send you A FEW FIGURES FOR TAX PAYERS.

The receipts and expendiatures of the Huntingdon County Poor House for 1872, as published in the JOURNAL of 19th February last, show that the Directors drew from the County Treasury on orders $9,590.43
Received from John Logan for sundries 212.17

$9,802.60

The same account shows that the products of the farm were 412 bushels wheat; 500 bushels oats; 1700 bushels ears of corn; 11 bushels rye; 300 bushels potatoes; 18 tons of hay; 10 loads corn fodder; 3000 heads cabbage; 10 bushels beets; 20 bushels turnips; 10 bushels onions; 3000 pounds pork and 500 pounds beef.

This farm the county has paid for and unless the products are sold, they are as much a part of the expense of maintaining the paupers, as the money drawn from the Treasury.

Turning to the Steward's account all the articles sold by him off the farm amount to just $22.86, and it may be interesting to notice that among them is cloverseed sold to J. P. Stewart, one of the Directors, which does not appear among the farm products. Where was it raised?

Now these products at fair market prices were worth at least $2000, add this to the $9,802.60 and last year's expenses would be $11,802.60.

The average monthly number of paupers reported in the Home is a little over 46, and this would make very nearly $4.93 cents a week for each pauper. If all of last year's expenses are not in the account, as you said in last week's JOURNAL, the cost is still higher, and if that is so, we had better sell the Poor House and board out the paupers at your best hotels in Huntingdon, where they don't charge more than $5.00 a week.

I am a little puzzled at a difference I find in examining the county accounts. The Poor Directors charge themselves with the amount received from County Treasury at $9,590.43. The County Commissioners take credit for paying to Poor House Treasurer $9,747.75.

This is bad book-keeping or something that needs explanation.

The truth is, we have had a little experience in our township of how public money goes when in the hands of people who profess to belong to two parties, and try to live off both, and we think it is time the Poor House affairs had an overhauling by some honest men who are under no other obligation than their oath of office.

A PORTER TOWNSHIP TAX-PAYER.

☞ The Altoona Radical says: "The Democratic press, including the Sun of this city, are gleefully announcing on the authority of the Huntingdon Globe, that Hon. John Scott has been detected in efforts to pack the juries of that county. The Globe made no such charge. It indirectly charged H. S. Wharton, Esq., of that county, a personal and political friend of Mr. Scott, with being party to an arrangement by which jurors favorable to Wharton were drawn in an action in which he was a party, and by dexterously coupling the names of Wharton and Scott, sought to create the impression that Mr. Scott was a party to the alleged unfairness. Those who know Mr. Wharton know that there is no foundation whatever for any insinuations even against him, and the character of Senator Scott is too far above anything like reproach to be in any way effected by anything his worst personal or political enemies can say or write against him."

☞ Go to the Primary Election early, and remain until the polls close. Let no man vote who you are sure is not a sound Republican, and will not take an oath to support the ticket nominated by the 12th of August Convention. Men who entered into an alliance with Speer last Fall, and who voted the Independent ticket are not entitled to a vote. Challenge them!

☞ The Ebensburg Herald introduces a few paragraphs thus: "The Huntingdon Globe is again at its task of attempting to injure the Hon. John Scott, but thus far its attempts have failed in the estimation of the people, outside of perhaps a handfull of mutual admirers in Huntingcon county."

☞ The Leaguers have candidates all over the county with the expectation that they will make Delegates in this way. This game is worn out. If the local candidate is worthy the delegates give them to him, but, friends, see that they are all right in every other respect.

☞ The "Ring-leaders" were in to see Boss Woods last week, and he told them what he wanted done. Somebody will have to be slaughtered after it is all over to raise the funds appropriated to carry the thing through. Who is to be the next victim?

☞ Listen to no reports that look like a desire to interfere on the part of outsiders with setting up your Delegates. Select good and true men to represent your wishes upon the Poor House and other questions.

☞ Fraker has a soft thing of it. He sends old, out-of-style boots, shoes, hats and caps to the Alms-House by the bushel basket full, and charges the county. No questions asked in regard to price!

☞ Honest Republicans, you can readily tell the Leaguer—he takes the Globe and curses Mr. Scott. Combine these two facts in the same individual and you ought to be satisfied.

☞ A terrible fire broke out in Portland, Oregon, on Saturday last, and consumed twenty-three squares. The loss will amount to millions.

☞ Don't forget the delegate elections on Saturday evening. Send honest men as delegates.

☞ The Pittsburgh Telegraph, of the 28th of July last, contained a double-leaded article entitled "An Explanation," from which we make the following extract:

"A report has been circulated that Mr. Swoope is an aspirant for the United States Senate, and that The Telegraph was started expressly to promote his ambitious designs. Within a few days this rumor was re-produced by so respectable a paper as the Reading Times and Dispatch. At home no refutation of the absurd story is necessary, but it may be proper to disabuse the minds of gentlemen in the Eastern part of the State. We have to say, therefore, most distinctly, that Mr. Swoope is not an aspirant for any office of any kind or description, and that as to the United States Senate, he is the ardent and devoted friend of Hon. John Scott, who was his legal preceptor, and to whom he is attached by a life-long intimacy of the closest character. He will, therefore, use all honorable means to promote the re-election of Mr. Scott, the more especially because he conscientiously believes that gentleman to be the ablest representative Pennsylvania has ever had in the Senate of the United States."

When will newspaper men become independent and patriotic enough to praise only where praise is due and to condemn where condemnation is deserved?—Bedford Inquirer.

This will only come to pass when the entire press is controlled by men of a different temperament from that of the present editor-in-chief of the Inquirer. He never sees anything in anybody else to praise, and never will. He is too selfish for that. Jealousy, however, frequently brings down his condemnation.

☞ Mr. Woods thinks he can make up any of his political losses to the Union Bank by electing a County Treasurer.—This is a new idea of making up for personal unpopularity. If he were hustled out of the institution it would not need political favors.

☞ The simple reason why Hand Sapolio is the best article in the world for the constant use of all classes of people, is because it will do what no other substance will, as follows:

Mechanics—Will entirely remove tar, paint, oil and varnish from the clothing and hands.

Farmers—Its use will prevent tan, sunburn, chapped hands.

Working Women—It will take the place of powders and cosmetics for beautifying the complexion, and will render the hands white and soft, no matter how much they are used.

Everybody—It is the best article in the world for removing all cutaneous blemishes from the skin, and rendering it white, beautiful, and natural in color. In price cheaper than soap—only 10 and 15 cents a cake, according to size.

☞ A Clergyman writing to a friend says, "My voyage to Europe, is indefinitely postponed. I have discovered the 'foun- of health' on this side of the Atlantic. Three bottles of Peruvian Syrup have rescued me from the pangs of the fiend Dyspepsia." Dyspeptics should drink from this fountain.

☞ I have used DR. SIMMONS' LIVER REGULATOR in my family for Dyspepsia and Sick Headache, and regard it as an invaluable remedy in these attacks. It has not failed to give relief in any instance.

CENTAUR LINIMENT.

There is no pain which the Centaur Liniment will not relieve, no swelling it will not subdue, and no lameness which it will not cure. This is strong language, but it is true. Where the parts are not gone, its effects are marvelous. It has produced more cures of rheumatism, neuralgia, lock-jaw, palsy, sprains, swellings, caked breasts, scalds, burns, salt-rheum, ear-ache, &c., upon the human frame, and of strains, spavin, gall, &c., upon animals in one year than have all other pretended remedies since the world began. It is a counter-irritant, an all-healing pain reliever. Cripples throw away their crutches, the lame walk, poisonous bites are rendered harmless, and the wounded are healed without a scar. It is no humbug. The The recipe is published around each bottle. It is selling as no article ever before sold, and it sells because it does just what it pretends to do. Those who now suffer from rheumatism, pain or swelling, deserve to suffer if they will not use Centaur Liniment. More than 1000 certificates of remarkable cures, including frozen limbs, chronic rheumatism, gout, running tumors, &c., have been received. We will send a circular containg certificates, the receipt, &c., gratis, to any one requesting it. One bottle of the yellow wrapper Centaur Liniment is worth one hundred dollars for spavined or sweenied horses and mules, or for screw-worm from sheep. Stock owners—this liniment is worth your attention. No family should be without Centaur Liniment. Price 50 cents a bottle, large bottles $1.00.

The generality of people think that all ministers ought to be gentlemen, and, as a rule, they are, but Harrisburg, unfortunately, has one who is an exception. It appears that if he did know his own business he did not attend to it very well.

Fishery Commissioner Hewitt, having thought it necessary to vindicate himself through the Hollidaysburg Standard, could not attend the meeting advertised for Marietta, a week or ten days ago. He should not spend so much labor on his articles.

Easly, of the Johnstown Tribune, thinks that no person but the proof reader reads the Altoona Tribune's "flat story." We think sometimes that even the proof reader does not read it, but, then, how does this critic know that it is "flat?" Enlighten us, Easly, please.

Rev. G. W. Zahnizer, of Huntingdon, preached in the Presbyterian church in this place on Sunday last, and we learn will also preach in the same place on next Sabbath. He is an attractive and able speaker, and the church should be crowded with hearers.—Clarion Republican.

On Wednesday evening John Bottomfield, who has been employed as a carpenter at Mt. Dallas station, while getting off the Cumberland freight, at his residence, in Broad Top township, Bedford county, permitted his right leg to be caught by the cars and crushed at the ankle. The limb was amputated the following night.

Here is a lie-bel we take from the Times: "A dance was engaged in a few days ago, between this and Mapleton. Some of the "Gals" became bel-le-ge-rent, and "fit." The hair came out, the faces were scratched, chignons, bustles, plumpers, false teeth, back hair, sawdust calves, &c., &c., were found lying around loose, a short time afterwards."

A Huntingdon lady is so unfortunate as to have a pane of glass broken out of one of her windows in the western side of her residence. Whenever it rains she thrusts her head out of that paneless hole in the sash, and with heroic resignation, permits great floods of tears to course down her blanched cheeks, but then she saves her carpets.

The Lewistown Gazette says: "On Tuesday last as John D. Byler and S. S. King were going to Huntingdon, some part of the harness gave way, causing the buggy to run too close upon the horse's heels, when he began kicking and running. John D. Byler, in jumping out, was kicked upon the leg and somewhat injured by the fall, and S. S. King also received some injuries from the kicks of the horse; the buggy was considerably damaged."

There was excitement at the depot on last Friday morning. A rat was driven beneath some heavy oak planks lying at the east end. Two sturdy fellows commenced handling the planks. There were not above 5000 feet of them. It was a slow process. Several dogs, a half-dozen of men, and two dozen of boys gathered up. At last the last plank was reached. Out popped the rat, dodged the dogs, and found safety beneath the planks just removed. Again the planks were handled, one at a time, with great caution, until the last one was reached. Whew! what excitement! Away scampered the rat, with dogs, men and boys after it. It was, however, an unequal contest. A terrier dashed away with the animal, and a prolonged shout rent the air. Everybody was happy!

MOUNT UNION ITEMS.—Somebody says the dogstar is in the ascendant now; and this appears to be the season when thieves and robbers prevail in Mount Union. We have yet to hear of a house in this place that has not been entered at night within the last two or three weeks.

One day last week a policeman came from Huntingdon to look for a watch belonging to Mr. J. Wilson Greenland. Not long after his departure a customer was seen walking along the tow-path who answered to the description the policeman had given of the thief. Pursuit was made by some of our swift young men. Thief ran across the bottom to the bend in the river, and, having the start, reached it just before the boat started, and was soon out of the reach of his pursuers. Walter Speer having a horse, caught up in time to see him off, and generously offered to shoot him if he didn't surrender; an offer which he magnanimously declined. Walter, having no "dissolver" along with him, didn't press the matter of shooting. Later in the evening an equestrian party started in the direction of Newton Hamilton to look for the culprit. One of them espied a calf in a field, and, supposing it to be thief, gave pursuit. Calf ran. Pursuer ordered calf to stop or he would shoot; but calf paid no more attention to such a threat than did the thief proper. The calf wasn't caught. It is likely running yet.

Then it was found that burglars had been active in this vicinity. A man traveled through Mr. Ed. M'Kittrick's house with a lighted lamp, and only desisted when discovered by the waking of one of the inmates. A person entered ex-sheriff Bathurst's kitchen, but left without telling his errand, when he heard Mrs. B. coming. A presumable thief entered Mr. Heiney's house, and took, from a cupboard, a pie and two razors. That was a practical thief. He will doubtless engage in the barbering business. Gen. McComb lost three watches, worth $250.00 in all—abstracted from his house while the family were sleeping. The pirate who cabbaged these was taking time by the forelock. Nobody has been carried off as yet.

There was a picnic at Jack's Spring on the 26th ultimo, or rather there were three picnics at one time and place. Jack's Spring is on the top of Jack's Mountain about four miles from Mount Union by the road; and the road is very rough and very steep. It is a large spring and the water is very good. Near this spring was located the cabin of the celebrated Captain Jack of Indian fighting fame; and near here his wife and children were murdered by the noble red men. Vide Jeffries heavy story in the Altoona Tribune. About seventy-five persons were at the picnic, including a party from McVeytown, one from Beaver Dams and one from Newton Hamilton. They had a pleasant time until it began to rain. Anybody who would ride in a wagon up that road ought to have a good time. It rains often now.

On Wednesday last the route agent going east failed to throw off any of the county papers due at Mt. Union. All were carried on to some point eastward and brought back in the evening. As a consequence some people in the lower end of the county did not receive their county papers until two or three days later than the time when they should have been due. Some of these route agents must be wholesome customers. One day only three letters were given off at this station; and the mail for all the southern part of the county is put off at Mount Union. Comment is unnecessary. Where is the civil service bureau? There is enough complaint about the management of some of the post offices in the county, but to have mails carried in that style is exasperating.

The track on the E. B. T. R. R. has been laid to within a couple of miles of Orbisonia; and a few days will see the road completed to that "promising" village. The gravel train runs over the road now at more than twenty miles an hour. After the road has been ballasted and levelled up, it can make thirty-five or forty miles an hour as easily and safely.

Mount Union is to have some more sidewalks. The ordinance said they must be completed in thirty days from date. The thirty days have nearly elapsed, and still but little new sidewalk is visible. It will be made though. The roads through the town or streets have been repaired too—and now we have discovered who the Street Commissioner is. He is all or any of the members of the Town Council. Last spring the mud was less than seventeen feet deep in some places in our streets. It is confidently expected that it will be deeper next spring, *

NEWS FIFTY-FOUR YEARS OLD.—We have come into possession of three old-time newspapers which are not only curiosities in a typographical point of view, but also contain matter which even at this day must possess a certain amount of interest for local readers. We herewith present an abstract of some of their contents:

The oldest of the three is styled the Huntingdon Gazette. It bears date Huntingdon, Pa., Thursday evening, December 23, 1819. The Gazette was "printed and published by John McCahan, every Thursday evening, at $2 per annum, payable half-yearly in advance." The number of this paper is given as No. 35 of Vol. 19, showing that the Gazette must have been established in 1800. The sheet is a four column one, and not much larger than one page of the JOURNAL. The first page is exclusively occupied by advertisements. The principal part of the space is filled with thirteen Sheriff sales, advertised by John Patton, Sheriff. The stockholders of the Huntingdon, Cambria, and Indiana Turnpike Company are notified to pay all arrears of installments called for and due, "justice to the creditors making this measure indispensible." The farm of Jacob Turby, deceased, contiguous to Pennsylvania Furnace, is offered for rent by John Anderson. James McKinney, dating his advertisement from Huntingdon jail, gives notice to his creditors that he has applied to the Judges of the Court of Common Pleas of Huntingdon county for the benefit of the insolvent laws, and fixes the second Monday of January, coming, for a hearing. Garber & Dorris, Huntingdon, have just received a "general supply of new goods suitable to the season." Six cents reward is offered by Martin Orlady for the apprehension of George Householder, an apprentice to the shoemaking trade.

The second page and nearly all of the third is taken up by President James Monroe's message to the Sixteenth Congress of the United States, delivered at Washington, December 7, 1819. On third page is the only original matter the paper contains. It is a thirteen line item, to the effect that Mr. John Robinson, of the Loop, had recently killed a calf, twenty-one months old, that weighed when dressed, 600 pounds. A reprint of the doings of the Pennsylvania Legislature for December 10, 1819, follows. Among the advertisements is one in which Dr. James Coffey furnishes the information that he has taken up permanent residence in Huntingdon, and solicits custom. "Advice to the poor given gratis," he adds, "from 8 until 9 o'clock in the morning." Mr. Fritzgerald's second practicing ball will be held in Huntingdon on the 30th instant, and ladies and gentlemen are invited to be present. Charles B. Seely, from the Ebensburg jail, makes application for the benefit of the insolvent act. C. Garber, Frankstown, offers some houses, lots, and tracts of land for sale, and William Dean, wants to rent a tract of land in Hopewell township. C. Raymond and David Newingham both have salt for sale.

The fourth page is filled as to three columns with reading matter clipped from exchanges. Among the advertisements is one calling an election for officers of the Huntingdon, Cambria, and Indiana Turnpike Company; one notifying the public that Thomas M'Millan has opened a cabinet-making shop in Huntingdon; one offering shearing machines for sale, and an executor's notice.

The second paper is also a copy of the Huntingdon Gazette, dated Dec., 30, 1819. Its advertisements are nearly a transcript of the ones noticed, and its reading matter is composed exclusively of extracts from other papers.

The third paper is the Village Monitor, printed in Huntingdon, January 6, 1820, and edited and published by J. M. Barbour and Hetty Ramsey. Terms, $2 per annum, payable in advance; or $2.50 at the expiration of the year. The only item of interest it contains is this: "There being no paper finished at the mill, we are obliged to issue but half sheet this week." It is about the same size as the Gazette.

These papers, compared with those printed at the present day, present a ludicrous contrast as to the contents and general workmanship. But it must be taken into consideration in this connection that they were the offspring of an art which was then comparatively in its infancy. Fifty-four years ago—a quarter of a century before the erection of Blair into a county—long before the idea of the construction of the Portage or Pennsylvania railroad was dreamed of—long before the incoming of the first white settler to the tract of ground upon which the city of Altoona now stands!—Altoona Tribune.

THE SEQUEL TO THE WM. H. PATTERSON AFFAIR.—Two men, who are suspected with having killed one Mr. Patterson, whose body was found below Petersburg, Huntingdon county, last week, with his skull fractured, were arrested near Penfield, this county, on Monday, and taken over on the train in irons. Mr. Patterson, who had been farming in the neighborhood of Yellow Springs, went to Huntingdon with these two men, who had been harvesting for him, to draw money from the bank to pay them; and the last that was seen of him living, was in their company, after he had drawn a large amount of money.—It is said that four hundred dollars was upon these men when arrested.—Osceola Reveille.

Thus it seems the further the report of this matter got from home, the more exaggerated it become. It is true that McComly and Weakly, who had harvested for Patterson, and who had accompanied him to this place, were arrested, in Clearfield county, and brought to this place, on mere suspicion that they had dealt foully with Patterson, but here the matter ended, so far as they were concerned.—There was not a particle of truth in the report credited, by the Reveille, that a body was found below Petersburg, this county, or the still more improbable story that was circulated at Altoona that the body of Patterson was found on the Sinnamahoning.

The uncle of Wm. H. Patterson had personally gone to Clearfield to hunt up Messrs. McComly and Weakly, and he arrived here with them on Tuesday. On his arrival here he was informed that Wm. H. Patterson had been seen at work on the Sunbury and Lewistown railroad, about twelve miles from Freedom Forge. Mr. Patterson sent a messenger at once to ascertain the truth of the statement, with directions, if the person turned out to be Wm. H. Patterson, to telegraph immediately, and bring him up in the next train. A telegram was received, confirming the report, and the Clearfield men liberated at once. The unfortunate man was brought up in the mail train, and it was apparent to all that his mind was very much affected. He was taken to his home the same evening. The Messrs. McComly and Weakly no doubt feel, and justly too, that they were greatly wronged, but we assure them that the matter is just as painful to the friends or Mr. Patterson as it can be to them. They are the unfortunate victims of the freaks of an unsound mind.

READ THIS AND REFLECT.—It seems like a waste of space and money to advertise our goods, when it is a fact, that our store is crowded by customers from morning till night. And the reason of this crowd is, that our store is always filled, from top to bottom, with the freshest goods the eastern markets can afford, which we sell at prices as low, if not lower than the lowest. And the reason of this is we buy our immense stock of goods for cash and sell to no one but who will pay, therefore we don't have to make good customers, pay the debts of bad ones. He have now on hand a beautiful assortment of Lawns, Percales, Cretounes, Poplins, and white goods which we will sell at prices lower than was ever before offered in this market. All that any one has to do to be convinced of this fact is to call and examine the goods. To farmers we say bring on your produce, for which we will give you the highest prices.
2t. HENRY & CO.

Flood & Cunningham guarantee the weight of all coal sold by them. tf

THE LOCAL PAPER.—How it Advertises a Town and How it is Paid for it.—That localities may be advertised as profitable as business houses, is shown by the fact that a mining and smelting company has leased 10,000 acres of lead lands in Missouri, to which attention was directed by a local paper.—Rowell's Reporter.

What we would like to know is, who paid that "local paper" for advertising those 10,000 acres of lead land? For every $2 on subscription, the publishers gave value received; for all the money taken in for job work, an equivalent in labor and stock is given, and for every advertisement paid for, the advertiser gets some return, or else they would not have advertised. Yet who paid for "advertising the locality?" Suppose the "local press" failed, or utterly refused to advertise their localities, where would some of the "rich men" thereabouts be—the land owners and speculators, for instance? Yet, if a publisher or editor get a pass over a railroad, he is a "dead head." No gentleman; very few editors or publishers ever get "perquisites" that they don't fully and completely earn. "Dead heading" is practiced to a greater extent on the press than it is on our railroads. Everybody "dead heads" on the press. Some borrow their neighbor's paper, and read it regularly every week, with as much importance as though they had a receipt for a year's subscription in their pocket; others take and read the paper six months or a year and then cheat the publisher out of his pay, which is the meanest kind of dead heading. If a man gets married, he is so happy that he hands the minister ten or twenty dollars and requests him to have his marriage announced in the papers. The minister carries the notice to the editor and says, "I married an interesting young couple at Grind Stone, last Sunday, and the bridegroom requested me to have it announced in your paper." The editor mutters to himself, "another dead head," tells the minister he will publish it, and the man of God departs. The lawyer who pleads a case in court—the politician who talks from the rostrum—and the capitalist who invests his means to aid the prosperity and progress of the community, are all "dead heading" on the press. The press feels too sensibly the injustice of this burdensome and outrageous system of "dead-heading."—Ex.

THE CHAMPION ROWER COMING.—Joe Cloud, the champion rower, is coming up the "raging canawl." On Monday of last week he arrived at Reading, with his boat, by way of East Pennsylvania railroad from Allentown, water facilities not having been afforded him between those cities. A few minutes after arriving he had his boat conveyed to the Schuylkill river, and thence he started up the Union canal, expecting to reach Lebanon in the evening. He ought to reach this place by Thursday or Friday next. He left Harrisburg on last Monday afternoon. From thence he intends taking the Susquehanna until the confluence of the Juniata is reached, when he will row up the Juniata to Hollidaysburg.—From that place he will have his boat conveyed across the Allegheny mountains to Portage, Cambria county, where he will take to the water again for Pittsburg. The smoky city reached he will be able to make good time down the Ohio to Cairo and down the Mississippi to New Orleans, his destination.

To win the wager of $5,000, which has been made on the rowing feat of 3,600 miles, Cloud must average twenty-five miles per day and must eat and sleep in his boat. The oarsman, although allowed 145 days to make the trip, is confident of accomplishing it in 125 days. His daily average since he left Philadelphia has been about 28 miles.

Cloud is a native of this State and resided in Harrisburg for a number of years. He has been in the United States marine service and possesses considerable nautical experience.—He is six feet tall, weighs 216 pounds, measures forty-five inches around the chest, sixteen around the arm muscle, and seventeen and a half inches around the calf. His muscular development is extraordinary, and his powers of endurance very great. He wears the customary sailor's uniform and is protected from the rays of the sun by a large straw hat. The boat which Cloud is rowing weighs sixty pounds and is fifteen feet and a half long.

A NEW PLAGUE TO THE FARMERS.—A new, and we fear a very formidable plague, is about to visit the wheat crop of the farmer, which should be looked to as soon as possible. Last summer, for the first time, we were visited by the cabbage worm, and its early appearance this summer shows that it is likely to become a fixed and destructive annoyance. On the 10th inst., Mr. D. K. Noell, whilst visiting and inspecting the crops of some of the farmers of Manchester township, in this county, was shown by Mr. George Litchenberger, on his farm, near New Holland, a peculiar worm that preys upon and eats out the farinaceous substance of the wheat after it has ripened.

The worm has never been known to the farmers in this section before. It is about an inch long, and half an inch in circumference, of a white color, with a light green tint. The head has a free articulation, and looks like a cuneated horn-clad punch, well calculated to aid a formidable looking pair of semi-lunar horizontal jaws, that work laterally, like sharp sickles toward each other, in breaking down and hollowing out a grain of wheat, which it does by commencing at the top of the grain and working in a transverse direction to the base, leaving but the shell. On further inquiry among the farmers, they expressed ignorance of the worm, until requested to examine, when it was found. From this we infer that it must have commenced its ravages only a day or two before the ripening of the wheat.

This worm is, no doubt, the larva of an insect that deposits its eggs on the wheat ears as soon as they shoot, and are matured and ready for work as soon as the wheat ripens. If such wheat, with the worms in it, is housed in the barn and suffered to remain long, it may prove more disastrous to the farmer than the fly, midge or weevil.—York Dem. Press.

PITTSBURGH FEMALE COLLEGE.—If you have a daughter to educate, and desire for her a really good school, one combining wholesome discipline, through teaching, and the influence of a Christian home, send to Rev. I. C. Pershing, D. D., Pittsburgh, Pa., for a catalogue of the Pittsburgh Female College. The college outranks any ladies' school in the State and is among the best in the country.—The buildings have just been refitted in excellent style, and twenty-five teachers employed for the coming year. The management earnestly request all who have daughters to educate to call and examine the buildings, and make themselves acquainted with the methods of teaching and the superior advantages afforded. Not the least important item is the fact that the College was not established for private gain, but to meet a public want, and hence the charges are less than any school affording equal advantages and accommodations. The fall term commences September 10.

SENATORIAL.—The friends of Capt. B. X. Blair (and they are many) will present his name to the Republican County Convention next week, for State Senator. We must have a strong man if we wish to carry this district. *

FRITZ HUNSPARGER.

From Saxton.

SAXTON, August 2nd, 1873.

EDITOR HUNTINGDON JOURNAL: An entertainment came off in Saxton, on July 24th, which was gotten up for the benefit of the Presbyterian Sunday School, in this place, and as notices have appeared in the Bedford and Everett papers, I thought you might feel slighted did you not receive a notice of it. The idea was originated by Miss L. M. Stewart, and was ably seconded by Capt. E. H. Turner. The entertainment was a success. Part 1st was a Cantata, entitled, "Esther the Beautiful Queen." The piece was taken from the Scriptural account of Haman, Mordecai and Queen Esther.

Solos were sung by Miss L. M. Stewart, Miss Lou Steele, Miss Lillie Angle and Miss Lillie Mitchell. These ladies sang very well, and were highly applauded, but Miss Lou Steele fairly brought down the house. Capt. Rhodes as King Ahasuerus, was magnificent, especially when condemning Haman to death. I would do a great injustice if I passed over David White, who took the part of Mordecai. His solo with Miss Lillie B. Angle, who acted the part of Queen Esther, was one of the triumphs of the evening. Capt. Turner acted the part of Haman with his usual vigor and grace. It was amusing to see with what complacency he received the praises of the Jews. The whole of part first was a success.

Part second consisted of Tableaux. Tableau 1st, Evening Devotions, was very pretty; Tableau 2d, Flower Girls, Nos. 1 and 2, Miss Laura Faulkner as No. 1, looked like an impersonation of Spring, while Miss Julia Turner looked as if some dire calamity had overtaken her, for she as No. 2, was full of flour. The next was Night and Morning, by Miss Lou Steele and Alleman, this was the best one of the evening, Bridal Scenes, No. 1 and 2, No. 1 represented a wedding, and No. 2, a large bridle. The next scene was calculated to arouse the patrotism of every American present. It was entitled "Goddess of Liberty" supported by Army and Navy. Miss Lou Steele, as Goddess, did great credit to herself, and was well supported by Capt. Rhodes as Army and Wilson Turner as Navy. The next was the "Gambler's Vision," representing a party of Gamblers surprised at their revels by a spirit. Miss Jessie Alleman enacted the part of the spirit well, while Weisel Turner looked as if she were going to take the top of his head off.

Next came "Taking the Veil" and the "Fortune Teller," two very pretty scenes. Owing to the lateness of the hour some scenes were omitted. A great deal of credit is due to Capt. Turner and Miss Stewart. FUN.

How to Treat Horses.

No one of the domestic animals is so much akin to men with reference to feeling and ambition as the horse, for when he sweats with a heavy load, when he gets into difficult places, and when he is hurt by his harness or saddle, he shrinksalmost in the same way that a man does. His nerves seem to be equally sensitive with ours, and especial pains should be taken to see that his harness sets easily and does not gall him, and during this hot weather the lightest rig should be used and every superfluous strap removed.

Let the stable be airy and clean, and when the work is done for the day, let the horse roll, if he will, and then bathe his limbs, back, and flanks. It is absolutely necessary to use a back-band, the owner should be careful to see that it is not too short, or buckled too tight, and that the pad is soft and kept in good order. It is absolutely disgraceful for a farmer's horse to have a sore back, because it signifies that it its owner is both careless and cruel. A sore back is a serious annoyance, and three or four weeks with the best of treatment are required for a cure. If, however, the case remains wholly or only in part removed, the healing scab is broken and irritated, the sore may become almost incurable and the animal become of little value. It should be a good cause for criminal prosecution if any owner permits his horse to get into this condition. The remedy for old sores is pulverized burnt alum to eat away the proud flesh, and for fresh ones, soap suds, but probably luke warm water is better. Harsh irritating applications, whether for outward or internal ills, should be avoided, for they indicate profound ignorance in him who prescribes. —N. Y. Tribune.

Orchards.

On a recent trip into the country, over some 37 miles of territory, one thing was very noticeable and that was the forlorn and neglected appearance of the trees. Sod of perhaps ten or twenty years growth covered the ground, rough, scaly bark covered the trees, and water sprouts in the trees and about the roots, and rough leaves were the main characteristics.

Now, orchards need as much care as cereals and they repay careful cultivation and work. Old orchards need not be pruned much, but by watching the water sprouts in June, and removing them then, is all that is really needful, they come out then and only leave a small hole which soon heals, while cutting one off only brings five forward. Dead limbs should be removed as soon as they become such. The rough bark should be kept off, as it is the chosen home of the codding moth. Scrape this bark off with some blunt hoe, and then apply a wash of strong lye or soap cuttings as high up as it can be put, do this each spring and the trees will be rich and glossy, and yield perfect fruit and foliage. Hogs should be kept in the orchards from the time the cider apples are gathered until the beginning of the next year's gathering; they keep the soil well stirred, eat the larvæ of beetles, and manure the soil. Sheep are not worth half as much. Young orchards may be cultivated if care is taken to manure them well with forest soil or muck. Iron fillings at the roots are good for trees. Hogs and poultry are the benefactors of the orchards. —Ohio Farmer.

What Underdraining Does.

It dries the soil. It moistens it. It makes it porous, and therefore mellow at the touch of the plow. It makes the land work easier. It warms the ground in cool weather, and cools it in over hot weather. It is earlier in the spring, and later in the fall, in tillable condition. It assists the frosts to a great extent during the winter. Is indispensable to grow grain successfully, and grass that makes good butter and cheese. It is the cure of malaria; makes a country warmer; increases the value of land. It stands the heavy rains without harm, passing off the surplus water and retaining its fertility. It will bear stock on it earlier in the season, and sooner without harm after a rain. It is a comfort to know you have it. But, it must be done well, else there is a loss, often the loss of the whole labor.

Freezing will not Kill Cured Corn.

I wish in this to correct the erroneous opinion going the rounds of the press. It is popularly supposed that a tenperature of four degrees below zero will kill the germ of corn. This is not so, my corn was exposed to twenty-two degrees below zero last winter, and every kernel grew. The trouble generally comes in autumn. The farmer delays husking his corn till a cold rain comes on, ending with a snow storm and freeze. The corn not yet thoroughly cured in the shock, is first saturated by the rain and then frozen and the germ is killed. Corn husked and thoroughly cured before cold weather comes on, may be carried to the North Pole and brought back and planted, and I will warrant it to grow. H. R. BEACH, in Ohio Farmer.

Raising Calves.

A correspondent of the New England Farmer says: "I allow the calf to suck until the milk is fit to use and then teach it to drink; I give it milk warm from the cow a few times, and then a tea made from early cut hay, with one quart of new milk at a feed. When it gets a little older, I put in a handful of oat meal, increasing the quantity as it grows older. When it gets so that it eats hay, I stop giving milk, and in a few weeks stop the tea; I then give it warm water with oat meal, until it goes to pasture. As soon as the nights become cool in the Fall, I put the calves in the barn. The first winter they are fed on good early cut hay and roots, if I have them, if not, I give them a little meal. Under this system I have large thrifty yearlings. They generally come in when they are two years old, and make the best of cows. I raise none but those from thorough-bred bulls."

EXCELSIOR.—

Dr. Wengert's Family Medicines

are considered superior to all others before the American public for the speedy and certain cure of the diseases for which they are recommended. Invalids, try them, and be convinced of the truth of what we assert. It is but ten months since they were first offered to the public, and to-day they are sold by first-class Druggists and Merchants in Pennsylvania, Maryland, New Jersey, New York, the Virginias, Ohio, Indiana, and the District of Columbia. Surely they are not humbugs or they would'nt be so highly commended by the intelligence of the most powerful states in all this fair land. They are classified so as to meet the most difficult diseases for which they are offered, not one medicine for all the diseases humanity is heir to.

The Magic Balm

cannot fail to cure Coughs and Colds if used according to directions. For all diseases arising from impurities in the blood use the
